What does it take to get to the top... again?

One famous career coach must turn four of her clients from has-been celebs back into superstars.

You know these celebs - you've seen them on your TV screen, heard them on your radio, and bought tickets to their movies. Now, the celebs who were once at the top of their industry have hit rock bottom, and the only way to make it back into stardom is by hard work.

The celebs come from a wide range of talent and experience, and include '80s child actors, Idol runners-up, soap opera heartthrobs, models, and rappers. What they each have in common is a recognizable name, undeniable talent and an unquenchable drive to make it back into the spotlight.

To help them regain their fame, they'll need to undergo a complete transformation under the coach's guidance. She'll push her D-list clients through a rigorous road-to-stardom schedule that includes relentless practice sessions and humbling talent auditions. They'll have to prove - in front of today's top entertainment decision makers - that they still have what it takes to be a star.

Viewers will enjoy getting a behind-the-scenes look into the fascinating world of celebrities. From agents to auditions, they'll discover what's really behind all of the industry glitz and glamor, while gaining key insights into the star-making process.
